

Lesley Goodburn

Seth's Story - Homeward Bound

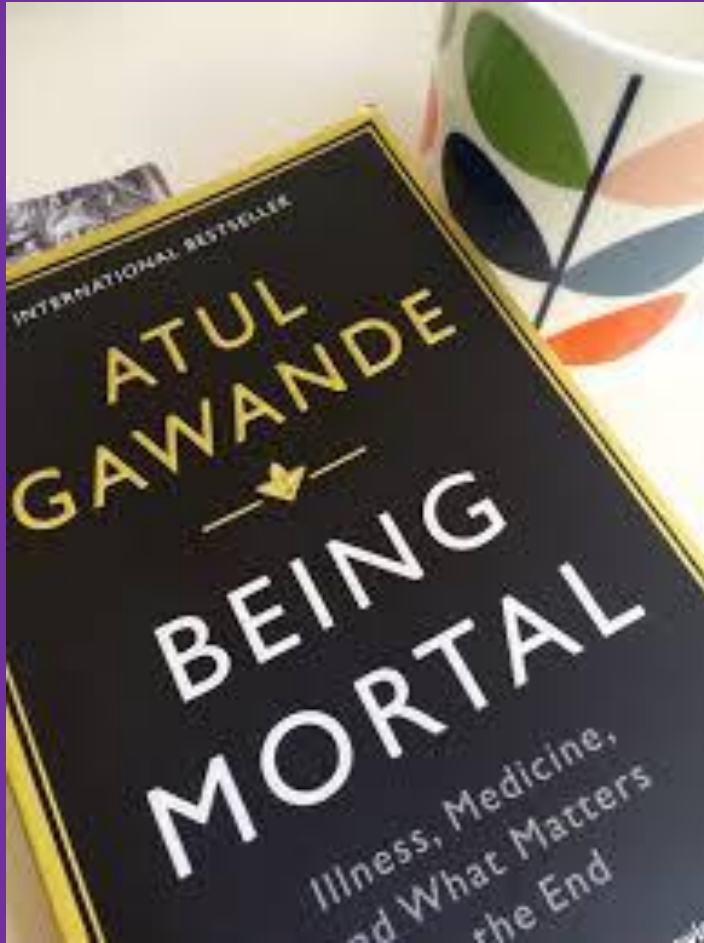

Purple Rainbow

The Seth Goodburn Foundation

- What do you know about your illness?
- What makes life worthwhile ?
- What scares you ?
- What would you be willing to trade off ?

- March 2016 – Play
- March 2017 – Film and Educational Resource
- 2017 - working with healthcare professionals
- 2020 - working with drama students to do live online performances to health care professionals

Three Aims

- Raise awareness of the signs and symptoms of pancreatic cancer
- Improve psychological, emotional and physical support for people diagnosed with a late stage disease with a short prognosis
- Improve end of life care for the person who is dying and their family

Partnership Live Performance

- Partnership Highland Hospice, University of Islands and Highlands drama school and medical school
- Part of the medical, nursing and drama student curricula
- Partnerships with other hospices/partners

HOMeward BOUND:

Exploring relationships,
love, compassion
& empathy

Theater breaks
through the analytical
and re
your hea
and this really r m

Homeward Bound: Seth's Story

An International Collaboration:

- The UW Center for Integrative Oncology and Palliative Care Social Work & the Carol LaMare Program
- Grief Dialogues Health Care Education Program
- Purple Rainbow which supports Pancreatic Cancer UK
- The University of the Highlands and Islands in Scotland
- The Pancreatic Cancer Action Network

Purple
Rainbow

Three Aims

- Raise awareness of the signs and symptoms of pancreatic cancer
- Improve psychological, emotional and physical support for people diagnosed with a late stage disease with a short prognosis
- Improve end of life care for the person who is dying and their family

Current Total £52,000

Purple Rainbow
Ball

Best Western Plus
Moat House Hotel

18th November 2017

 facebook.com/gogglebooths <https://www.justgiving.com/fundraising/lesley-goodburn>

in support of

Pancreatic
Cancer
UK

Raising awareness of pancreatic cancer and supporting Pancreatic Cancer UK
in memory of Seth Goodburn

One Foot In Front of The Other
By Debbie Wells

In memory of Gemma Harrison

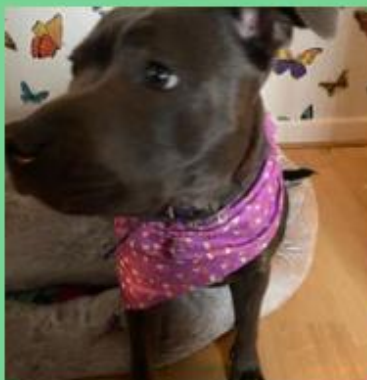

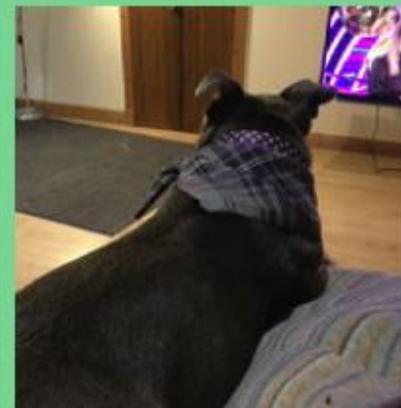

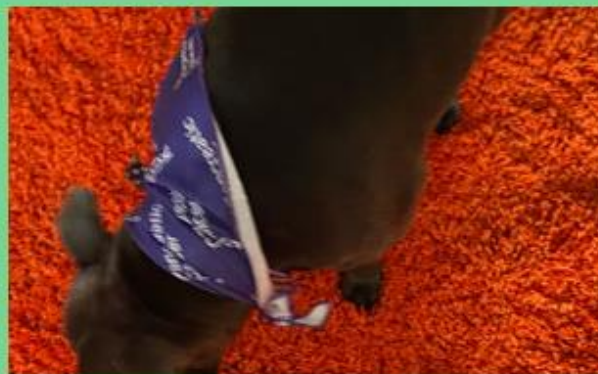

www.purplerrainbow.co.uk
#pancanstory

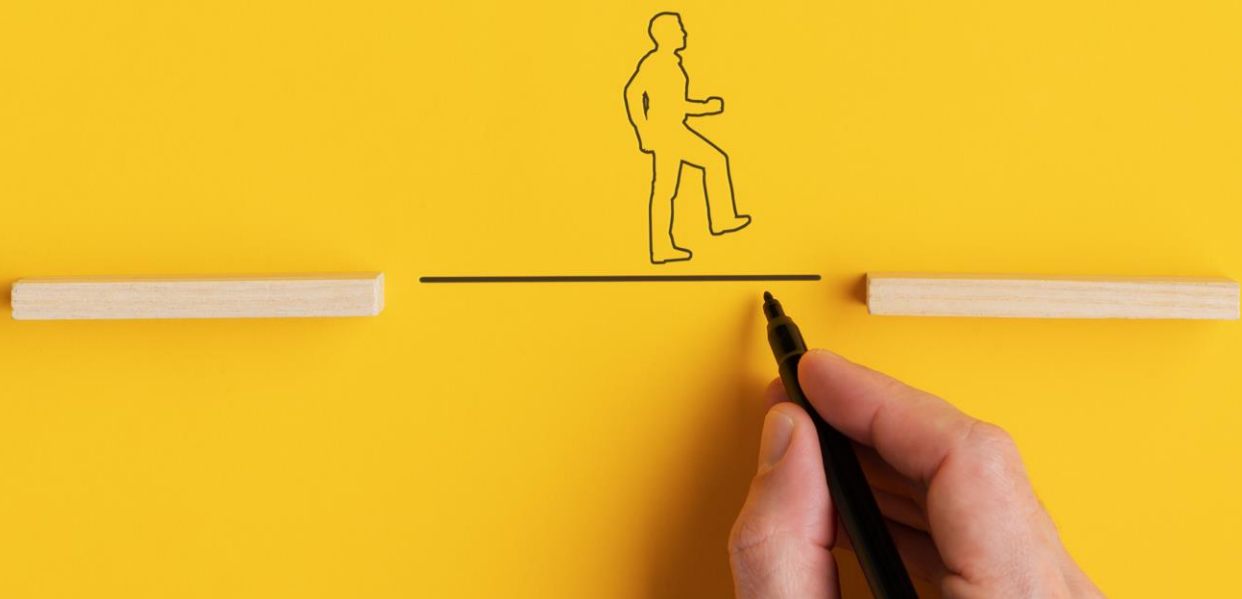

That was the day
that everything
stopped. Life would never be

Three Aims

- Raise awareness of the signs and symptoms of pancreatic cancer
- Improve psychological, emotional and physical support for people diagnosed with a late stage disease with a short prognosis
- Improve end of life care for the person who is dying and their family

Pancreatic
Cancer
UK

Time Is An Emotion

This platter has been made by Black Star Ceramics and it depicts the period of my husband Seth's diagnosis of pancreatic cancer to his death 33 short and heart breaking days later and the five years that have passed since Seth died.

The outside rim of the platter depicts time and emotions in proportion to the five years that have elapsed since Seth died in June 2014. The internal rim of the platter shows the emotional and psychological impact of a pancreatic cancer diagnosis and how five years feels from an emotional perspective – Time is an Emotion.

It seeks to share how it feels when the most important person in your world and the person you love with all of your heart is diagnosed with pancreatic cancer and they are told they have days maybe weeks to live.

This creative piece is designed to prompt discussion about the unmet need of psychological support for patients and families diagnosed with pancreatic cancer and it is part of Seth's Legacy

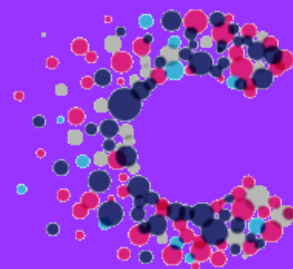

West Midlands
Cancer Alliance

in support of

Pancreatic
Cancer
UK

CANCER
RESEARCH
UK

The Seth
Goodburn
Foundation

Three Aims

- Raise awareness of the signs and symptoms of pancreatic cancer
- Improve psychological, emotional and physical support for people diagnosed with a late stage disease with a short prognosis
- Improve end of life care for the person who is dying and their family

Aims of the Foundation

- Use creative arts, music, theatre and dance to create stories of palliative and end of life care to be used in medical and nursing education
- Facilitate a network of creatives, researchers, clinician's, nurses and charities to develop research proposals around creative arts and palliative/end of life care
- Facilitate a network of people with lived experience of end of life care to influence and input into organizations who support facilitate and
- Write a play about pancreatic cancer where the cancer is the main character
- Fund a PHD student to research the use of lived experience to influence palliative and end of life education for medics and nurses

Why

- Making the invisible visible
- Giving a voice to the voiceless
- Education and learning for our future healthcare leaders

Seth Goodburn - 1964 - 2014

The living thinking me that was;
is now forever still
And life goes on without me;
as time forever will

Seth's Story – Homeward Bound – Hospice UK

www.purplerainbow.co.uk

@lgoodbu

@Sethsstory99

Ljgoodburn@aol.com

Tel 07446 491978